

Record Death Count

747 Persons Die On Roads In The U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record holiday traffic death toll was set when 747 persons were killed in highway accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend. Victims under 18 years of age numbered 130.

This compared with a non-holiday weekend two weeks ago when 546 died in traffic. Eighty-one were under 18.

Both 102-hour periods covered the span from 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday, to midnight Sunday.

The record toll outstripped the former Thanksgiving holiday death record of 615 set during the four-day period last year, and the all-time traffic death record for a holiday, set during the 1965 Christmas period when 720 died in a 78-hour count.

Many accidents resulted in multiple fatalities, with two to five persons killed in a single crash. Five persons including two married couples died in one head-on collision near Dryden, N. Y., Saturday. Several four-death smashups were reported.

Sunday was by far the deadliest day with nearly 250 deaths.

Apparently, the unusually mild, pleasant weather over most of the nation during the holiday lured unprecedented numbers of persons onto the highways. Millions crowded the roads going home on the last day of the weekend, many running into unfavorable weather conditions posed by widespread rain in the central section of the country, and some snow and freezing in the northern states.

The National Safety Council reports that 49,000 persons died in traffic accidents last year. The count through September of this year reached 38,190 — about 20 per cent more than for the first nine months of 1965.

This year the nation has about 65 million drivers, and they are expected to travel considerably more than the 880 billion traffic miles estimated last year.

The safety council says the Thanksgiving period is not usually regarded as a heavy traffic period. But it pointed out that at the beginning of the Thanksgiving weekend roads were dry and temperatures mild through much of the nation.

Twenty persons were killed in traffic accidents in Missouri over the long Thanksgiving weekend.

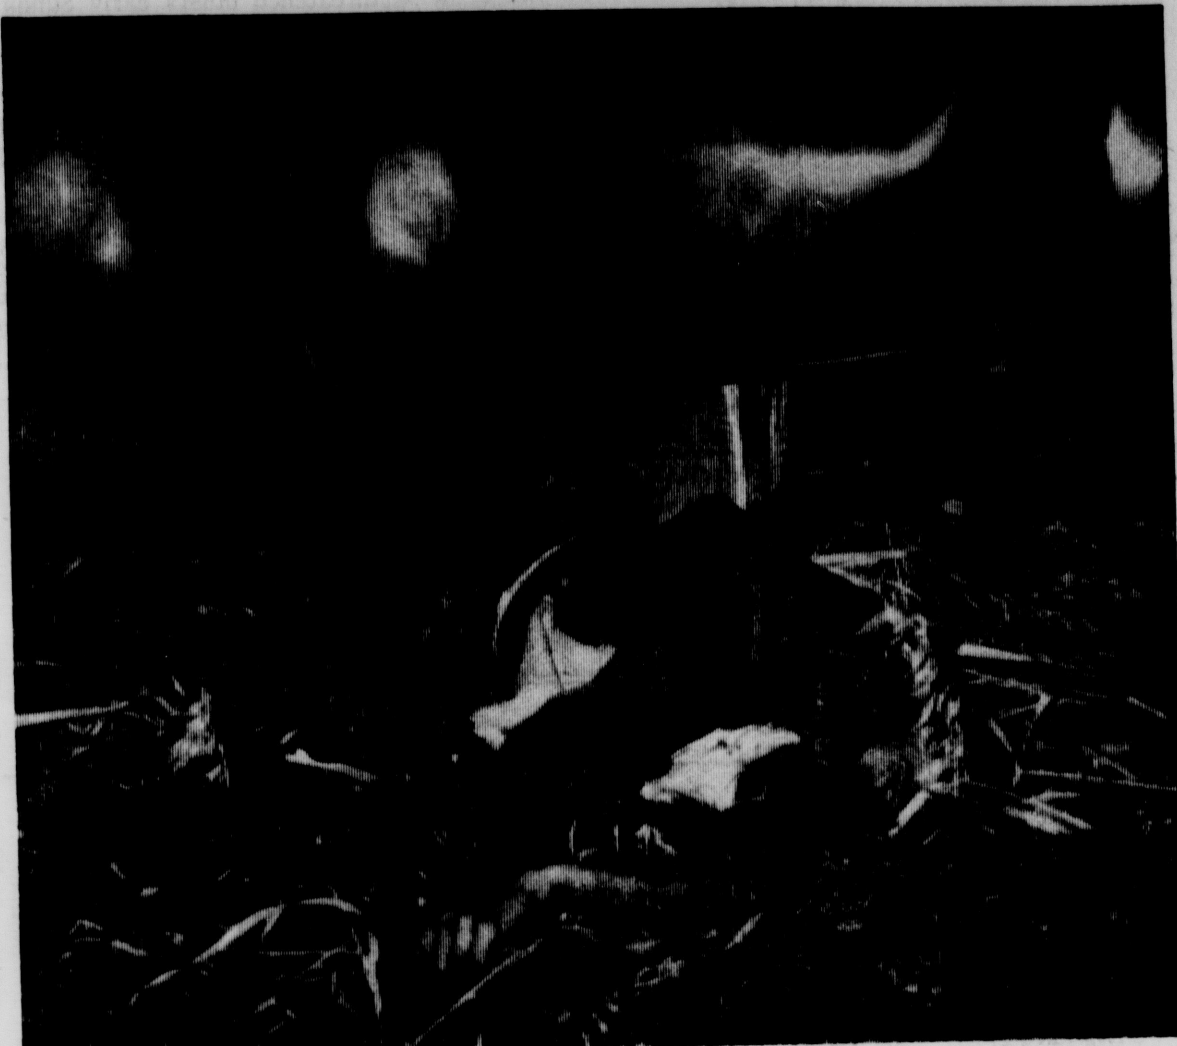

Mrs. Lelia Livingston, 64, Lamar, Mo., was killed Sunday when her car rammed the side of the locomotive on a Missouri Pacific freight train at a crossing in Lamar.

Paul E. Combs, 39, Marshall, Mo., was killed Sunday when a leased mail truck skidded off U.S. 65 on a curve four miles north of Sedalia. Combs was a passenger in the truck driven by Claude Henderson, 46, of Marshall, who was not hurt. The patrol said Combs was thrown out and the truck rolled over him.

Sandra K. Gorman, 29, St. Joseph, was killed Saturday night in the head-on collision of two cars on the Belt Highway northeast of St. Joseph. Two other persons were seriously injured.

Police said the car driven by the victim was reported to be in the wrong lane and running without lights when it met a car driven by Charles E. Culver, 26, also of St. Joseph. Culver and a passenger in his car, Mrs. Phyllis George, of St. Joseph, were hospitalized. Drivers of two other cars said they were forced off the road by the Gorman car.

Neil Walker, 45, of McClure, Ill., was killed Saturday in a three-car collision on U.S. 61 two miles south of Jackson. Troopers said Walker's pickup was struck head-on by a car driven by Doris Larkin, 33, of Jackson. (Please turn to Page 4, Col. 8) thrown from the vehicle after it skidded and left the roadbed on Highway 65. Death was said to have occurred instantly.

ACCIDENT VEHICLE—This 1962 International truck, contracted to carry mail between Marshall and Sedalia, was the vehicle in which Paul E. Combs, 37, Marshall, was a passenger.

The vehicle, driven by Claude Wesley Henderson, 47, Marshall, left the highway about four miles north of Sedalia, resulting in fatal injuries for Combs. (Democrat-Capitol photo)

The first fatality recorded as a result of an accident on the new stretch of North Highway 65, was that of Paul E. Combs, 37, of 521 East Vest, Marshall, killed when a contract mail truck overturned about 4:15 o'clock Sunday morning approximately four miles north of Sedalia. Combs was a passenger in the vehicle which was reportedly driven by Claude Wesley Henderson, 47, 520 East Jackson, Marshall.

Combs' death was the 13th for 1966 as a result of a traffic accident. This compares with only nine which occurred in

Top VC Has Come Over To South

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese military command today displayed a man it said was the highest ranking Viet Cong to defect. He was identified as Lt. Col. Le Xuan Chuyen, alias Thanh Son.

Government military spokesmen said the 37-year-old man gave himself into government hands on Aug. 2 because "he was not satisfied with his assignment as well as the Communist political stand."

Wearing a white, short-sleeved shirt and blue-gray trousers, Chuyen was presented to newsmen at the regular military Vietnamese military briefing. Spokesmen said he had been a member of the Communist party 20 years, but he explained he had joined when the organization was known as the Indochinese Workers party.

A government statement said Chuyen joined the Viet Minh army in 1945 and in 1960 was promoted to lieutenant colonel and named commander of the 66th Regiment, 304th Viet Cong Division. It added that in March 1966, he became ill "and taking this opportunity, he asked to be nursed at Miss Hiep's house in Suoi Kiot of Hoai Duc District until April 1966. He married this girl who rallied to the government of Viet Nam together with him."

Allied Forces Claim 509 Viet Cong Killed In Hunt

19-Day Hunt-And-Kill Operation Along Coast

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines, South Koreans and government forces have killed 509 Viet Cong in a 19-day hunt-and-kill operation near South Viet Nam's central coast, it was reported today.

The U.S. Command reported U.S. B52 bombers pounded the suspected central headquarters of the Viet Cong northwest of Saigon while enemy mortar crews fired against U.S. troops in the central highlands but without effect.

Fighting on the ground elsewhere slackened.

Fast Action May Have Saved Lives

Slams Plane Into Tree Tops To Get People Onto Floor

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force captain told today how he slammed his crippled transport into tree-tops to knock down passengers who panicked when liquid flames poured from the plane's ceiling.

Capt. Richard A. Nagel Jr., 34, of Kenmore, N.Y., managed to crash land the plane despite a smoke-filled cockpit and fire raging out of control in the cabin.

All but one of the 37 persons on board escaped serious injury in the crash at Dau Tieng Saturday. One U.S. soldier-passenger reportedly has serious internal injuries.

Nagel was making his fifth takeoff of the day ferrying soldiers at the end of Operation Attleboro, the biggest U.S. operation of the war. His twin-engine C123 Provider was hit by intense ground fire just after lifting from the airstrip.

"We had been warned of possible ground fire," said Nagel. "We fly with our windows open so we can hear it. This sounded like it was coming from four locations. Then we heard the slugs ripping into the plane about midway along the fuselage. Immediately a fire broke out above the left wheel well."

Nagel was sitting in the cockpit's seat checking out a Thai air force officer as aircraft commander. The American took command of the damaged craft and swung back toward the field.

Panic swept the passengers when liquid fire dripped from ruptured hydraulic lines in the ceiling. They grabbed the few available parachutes and tried to pry open emergency windows, Nagel said.

Airman I.C. Ray A. Houck, 20, of Cement City, Mich., was fighting the flames with a fire extinguisher and pushed passengers away from windows.

Allen Arnwine, 32, 612 East 12th Street, and Guy Bachman, 70, 151 Summer, came upon the accident and drove to the farm of Harry Runge from which they had the State Highway Patrol notified in Lee's Summit, and in turn called a trooper through the Sedalia Police. They then returned to the scene and assisted Henderson to climb out through the driver's side of the cab.

Henderson said he had been driving the mail truck for seven years between Marshall and Sedalia for Waite H. Smith, 467 South Redmond, Marshall, who has the contract to haul mail between the two cities.

Henderson said Combs and he had been buddies many years and that Combs was just riding with him to keep him company. Asked what happened he first said "I really don't know."

And later remarked, "I might have gone to sleep woke up and put the brakes on. I really don't know."

Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle of the State Highway Patrol conducted an investigation of the accident.

Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, coroner, was notified and went to the scene and viewed the body, and later went to the Alexander Funeral Home where the body was taken to ascertain the cause of death.

Examination of the body revealed a severe crushed chest, both legs broken, a laceration

The allied coastal operation in Quang Ngai Province, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon, began Nov. 7. Associated Press correspondent Bob Gassaway reported from operational headquarters in the 1st Corps area north of the combat zone that up to Sunday the Koreans and South Vietnamese forces reported they had killed 458 Communist guerrillas while the U.S. Marines reported killing 51.

The enemy mortar attacks were aimed at troops of the U.S. 4th and 25th Divisions in positions around the Plei Djereng Special Forces — Green Beret — camp in the central highlands about 240 miles north of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said in the first attack, North Vietnamese army regulars lobbed 25 mortar rounds at 4th Division troops about 18 miles from the Green Beret camp but all fell short. No U.S. casualties were reported.

The second enemy mortar attack came after sundown against troops of the 25th and 4th Divisions about four miles south of the camp. A spokesman said 24 enemy rounds were fired at a command post but all fell outside the defense perimeter.

Choose Leader For State Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Republican House members caucused today to choose a minority floor leader and other officers for the 1967 legislature.

The incumbent is Rep. Ronald M. Belt of Macon. He is being challenged by Rep. R. J. (Bus) King of St. Louis County, a former floor leader, and Rep. Robert E. Young of Carthage. The Democrats nominated Rep. James E. Godfrey of St. Louis for speaker earlier.

Only One Of Quintuplets Still Alive

One Tiny Baby Is Still Struggling For Its Survival

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Another of the Aranson quintuplets died today, leaving only one of the tiny girls still struggling to survive.

The same ailment that killed three of her sisters claimed the life of Marci Jill, last-born of the quint delivered 2½ months prematurely Saturday to Mrs. Michael Aranson, 22 onetime kindergarten teacher.

The surviving child, Roni Sue, was reported in good condition. "She is kicking and crying and we are very hopeful," said one physician.

Roni Sue was the first-born and the largest at one pound 12 ounces.

The lung ailment first claimed Susan, the third-born, who died at 2:15 a.m., Sunday just short of 24 hours after birth. The second-born, Amy Beth, died at 2:15 p.m. and the fourth-born, Kimberly Ann, at 3:40 p.m.

Dr. Lee Bass, chief of pediatrics at Magee-Women's Hospital, said there also was a possibility that Marci Jill's brain had been damaged by lack of oxygen.

A tube was inserted into the infant's windpipe — trachea — through her mouth and a mechanical respirator was breathing for her.

Roni Sue was in a heated and glass-enclosed incubator. Her breathing was somewhat labored but not artificially aided. "Roni Sue continues to look very good," Bass said. "There's still the crucial 72-hour period to get through for the respiratory problem, but if she gets through that there is a good chance she can be a healthy baby."

Aranson and his wife, Patti, "are very anxious to get one live baby and are praying," the doctor said.

Bass said preliminary autopsy reports indicated the three deaths were due to hyaline membrane disease, a common cause of death among premature infants, but that this would have to be confirmed by more detailed studies.

$10,000 In Clothing Stolen Here

Local Store Says 144 Suits, Ten Topcoats Are Gone

Some $10,000 worth of men's suits and topcoats were reportedly stolen Monday morning from the Colonial Shop in the Thompson Hills Shopping Center.

Police were called at 9:01 a.m. by manager Tom Delph who said that he discovered the theft when he opened the store. Delph told The Sedalia Democrat-Capitol the break-in had to occur sometime between 3:30 p.m. Sunday when he left the store and the time of his arrival this morning.

Investigating officer Sgt. Perry Franklin indicated entrance was gained by forcing the front door with a bar of about one and a half inches in diameter. There was no other damage to the property, he said.

Delph said one entire rack of clothing had been removed and it appeared the thieves had taken the most accessible apparel. He stated that 144 suits and ten topcoats are missing.

A sum of money amounting to $50, which was in an open cash register and easily in reach, was not touched, Delph added. He said that this was the first break-in the store has had, and the loss is fully insured.

Says Arabs Subsidized Violence

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Prime Minister Wasfi Tell charged today that the violent antigovernment demonstrations in Jordan were subsidized with considerable amounts of money from the two hostile Arab nations.

Tell declined to identify them, but the United Arab Republic and Syria, both antimonarchist, have been waging a vehement propaganda campaign against King Hussein's regime.

The situation in West Jordan, center of the disorders, is returning to normal, Tell said, and most curfews have been lifted.

Armored squads of Jordan's Arab Legion checked new demonstrations Sunday in towns along the border. The demonstrations followed an Israeli army raid on three Jordanian frontier villages earlier this month. When Jordan did not retaliate, the demonstrations took on an antigovernment tone.

Tell said four civilians and a soldier were killed in the West Jordan demonstrations last week.

He told a news conference the riotous demonstrations began as a "genuine expression of indignation and anger against Israel and a demand for arms and the strengthening of border forces against Israel."

"There is no doubt the anger was genuine," the prime minister said. "It was a perfectly healthy phenomenon. I would join such demonstrations myself if I were not prime minister."

However, he said, the demonstrations were exploited by subversive elements "and when the situation got out of hand the police intervened." He added that the Jordanian army moved into the trouble areas "only on the request of the citizens themselves."

Santa Claus On Bond Following His Landing

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A Santa Claus and his helper not only await Christmas but also arraignment on a charge of parachuting illegally into a shopping center.

The two men, clad in red suits, floated to the ground Saturday at the Thruway Plaza in suburban Cheektowaga amid cheers from children and other spectators.

Policemen immediately charged the pair with violating a general business law that prohibits parachute jumping.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: For 25 years I have been married to a woman who has multiple sclerosis, a crippling disease.

If I held an 8 to 5 job I could have a fairly easy life, but I would need to hire a companion for my wife. Instead, I arranged things so I am close by and yet not a handmaiden to her. I own and operate a summer camp for boys. In the winter I run a ski lodge.

I'm an active, fun-loving 47 who enjoys mountain climbing, skiing, horseback riding, camping and fishing. I'm becoming frustrated because of what I am missing. I'd give anything to put my arms around a woman and feel the response of her arms around me. I want to walk into a dining room with a woman at my side. I want to dance and swim and hike with a woman who shares my love of nature. I ache for the companionship of a female who can do something with me besides sit.

Is it possible to share such pleasures with another woman without becoming emotionally involved? I doubt it. So what am I to do? What about others who are married to crippled mates? Can you give us some realistic advice? I will sign this letter but please don't use my name. — SIGNATURE WITHHELD

Dear Friend: It would be easy to respond with pious platitudes but your frankness and honesty deserve better.

Frequently when I lack the knowledge or experience to advise a reader I call on an expert. The expert I have asked to respond to your letter is a Chicago colleague. His answer tells you more about him than I ever could. Here it is:

Dear Mr. — — —

Ann Landers has asked me to answer your letter. I do not have Ann's wisdom, but I do have intimate knowledge of your problem since I have lived with it for 19 years.

There is no universal solution because the needs, the temperament and the personality of each individual differ. A solution that makes sense to me may be totally unacceptable to you.

You say many normal activities are denied you because of your wife's affliction. I hope you have not magnified the importance of these activities merely because you feel you are being cheated. Some men have wives who can dance all night, but they have bitterly unhappy marriages.

Your wife's disability is tragic, but it would be infinitely more tragic if you allowed it to embitter you. Try to think of her misfortune as your opportunity for personal fulfillment. How many people feel truly needed? Well, you are.

If you are frustrated and restless because of the things you are missing I suggest you keep it to yourself. Remember your wife is missing some things.

too. I also suggest that you steer clear of "companionable" relationships with other women. Such relationships are difficult — perhaps impossible — to control.

The first step in your adjustment is to forget the alternatives. Make up your mind that you will go dancing again when your wife can go with you. Remissions do occur. Nothing is impossible. In the meantime take her wherever you can, even in a wheel chair. Keep her hopes alive. Encourage her to exercise and do whatever she can to feel useful. I work with my wife every evening in therapy sessions. She has given me some real lessons in courage.

We all admire maturity, selflessness and compassion but no one is born with these qualities. Circumstances have given you a real opportunity to acquire them. As Ann Landers says, "It's not what happens to us, but how we take it that counts."

— ANONYMOUS, PLEASE

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sardinian Village Becomes Boom Town

ROME (AP) — A village in a central Sardinian mountainland so bleak it doesn't even have bandits has become a modern small town — thanks to modern rocketry and missiles.

The village's improbable name of Perdasdefogu may have been an omen. In Sard dialect it means "lost fire."

Ten years after the remote hamlet was chosen as the site for Italy's missile study center, with test launching pads at nearby Alto di Quirra, its 2,000 oldtime residents can hardly recognize the place. Its population has doubled.

The influx of new residents working at the center has made the old water system inadequate. A new aqueduct is planned and a new road will link the growing village to Cagliari in the south and Nuoro to the north.

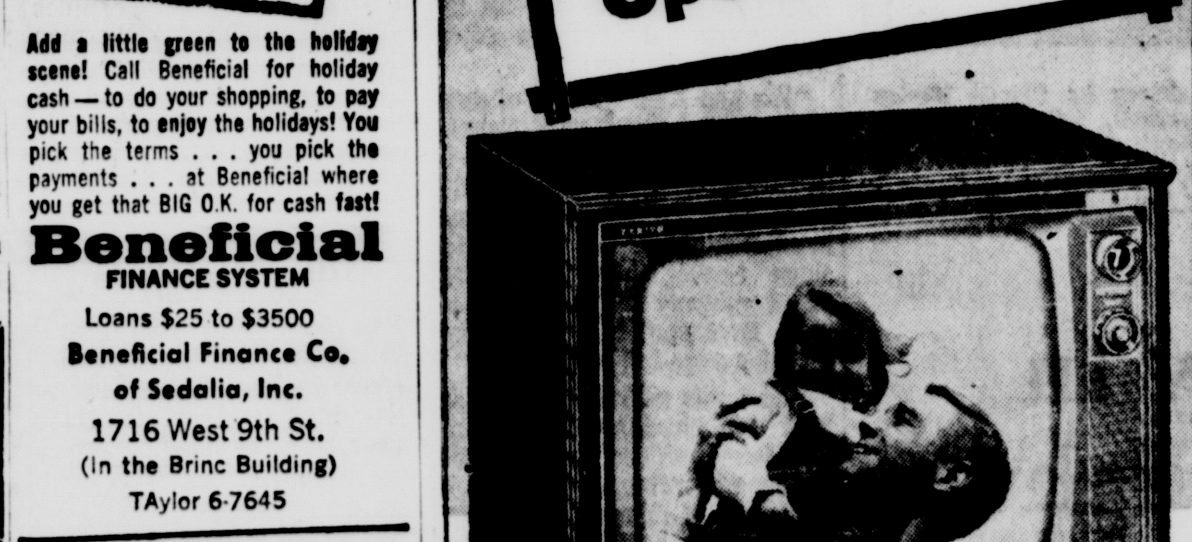

The town is fast growing away from one of the main reasons it was selected. The region was so remote that there were almost no dwellings in the barren hills nearby that might be endangered if missiles misfired or went out of control. Now building is booming.

Apparent Suicides In Bridal Suite

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Coroner M.W. Bennett has ruled murder-suicide in the deaths of a couple who rented a motel bridal suite to celebrate their wedding anniversary.

Caldwell Adams, 46, Harnett County farmer, and his wife, Rummell, 45, were found shot to death Saturday. Bennett said Mrs. Adams shot her sleeping husband with a .25 caliber pistol and then fired two shots into her chest.

The Adams went to the motel Friday night and asked for the bridal suite because they were observing their wedding anniversary.

The fire started in a clothes closet of the Ronnie Owens home. Heat caused the safety plug on a bottle of gas to blow and flames shot across to the Vaughn Petry home, igniting it.

Two Homes Burn In Early Sunday Fire

TRENTON, Mo. (AP)—Fire destroyed two homes and threatened others early Sunday in the Laredo community 10 miles southeast of Trenton.

It took Trenton and Laredo firemen two hours to control the blaze, which was fed by fuel oil and bottled gas.

The fire started in a clothes closet of the Ronnie Owens home. Heat caused the safety plug on a bottle of gas to blow and flames shot across to the Vaughn Petry home, igniting it.

An oil tank between the two houses also caught fire.

Guild Awards For Actors' Benevolence

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The producers, directors and writers guilds give annual awards for achievements in the profession, but not the actors. They give their award for excellence as a human being.

The actual phrasing of the award is: "For outstanding achievement in fostering the finest ideals of the acting profession." As Ronald Reagan put it, it is "not presented just for long time excellence on screen; it should really be called the 'above and beyond' award."

Last year it was presented to Bob Hope, the most selfless of entertainers in giving his services to worthy causes.

Last week California Gov.-elect Reagan presented the award to Barbara Stanwyck, and guild members thundered their approval with a standing ovation.

Said Reagan: "This girl has given of herself in unpublished works of charity and good citizenship. I think there are few among us of fellow performers or in the public who have any comprehension of the extent of this artist's devotion to those who are handicapped by blindness, human misery and poverty, both here and abroad."

"We have known her in this profession as truly a professional and an exponent of our art and craft of the best."

Miss Stanwyck, who had been tricked into attending the guild meeting on the pretense that she was presenting the award to Reagan, dissolved in tears.

"It is a long road," she said after accepting the statuette. "There are a lot of bumps and rocks in it, but this kind of event like this happens in your life."

No star in films is better liked by her fellow workers than Stanwyck. To the crewmen who have worked with her for 30-odd years, she is always "Missy," and they treat her like royalty. Younger performers view her with awe, but she puts them at ease with her casual manner and helpful advice.

Less well known is Miss Stan-

Republicans Get More Seats On Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans hold the cards which could divide the influential Senate Foreign Relations Committee equally between critics and supporters of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies in the new Congress.

Their Senate ranks increased by three in the Nov. 8 election. Republican leaders are expected to demand greater party representation on foreign relations and other important committees.

Democrats now outnumber the GOP 13 to 6 on the Foreign Relations group headed by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark. Under the new party division of 64 to 36, the Democrats would be entitled to only 12 members.

There are no vacancies on the committee, however, and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen have a way of compromising such matters.

An increase in membership to add one more Republican could open the way under the seniority system for Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., a former ambassador to India, to claim the new spot if he chooses to do so. Most of the GOP members who outrank Cooper in length of Senate service seem already set with the committees of their choices.

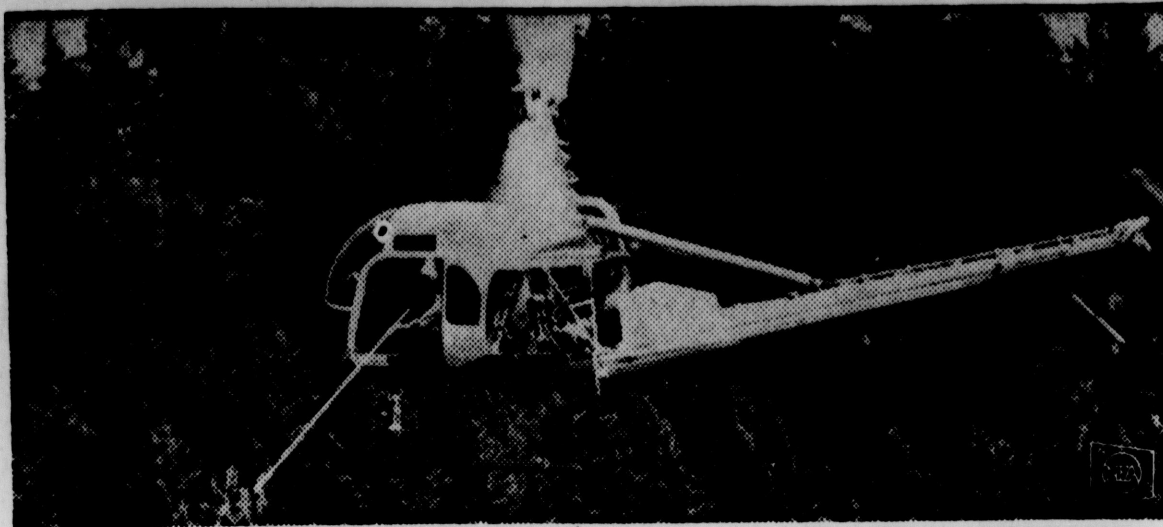

As the committee now stands, it has 10 members who have given general support to Johnson's Viet Nam course and 9 who have been critical at times of the President's actions. Cooper falls in the latter category.

Republicans also probably will be asking for larger representation on the Armed Services Committee, headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., where they now are outnumbered 12 to 5 by the Democrats.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., retires in January and thus there might be two spots open if that committee were enlarged also.

Saltonstall's retirement opens a Republican place on the powerful Appropriations Committee, now controlled by the Democrats 18 to 9. Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, leads in seniority among those who might be interested in this choice spot.

TREETOP TRIMMING and testing became much easier when Dept. of Agriculture officials began attacking their problem from above, instead of below. A new helicopter-mounted tool with a scissor on the end has replaced old methods of climbing the trees or shooting off the top with a rifle. By collecting and analyzing treetop foliage, scientists hope to develop new methods of aerial photography or imagery to determine insect and disease damage to forests.

Rep. Boggs Sees Increase In US Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hale Boggs, the third-ranking Democratic leader in the House, predicts President Johnson will ask the new Congress for a $10-billion to $15-billion increase in the income tax.

But the Louisianan says Johnson "hasn't told me so."

Boggs, back from talks with Johnson in Texas last week, said Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation" that projected expenditures of $125 billion will bring "a deficit of a considerable magnitude" over revenues pegged at between $115 billion and $118 billion.

Boggs added: "I would think that both parties, having committed themselves to fiscal responsibility, will face up to such an issue. I just don't believe that we would want a deficit of that proportion, particularly where the deficit is called for as a result of national defense commitments."

Dr. Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under John F. Kennedy and Johnson, again urged a 5 per cent across-the-board income tax boost as a device to slow the economy.

On the NBC program "Meet the Press," Heller said Sunday a tax increase should be coupled with an easing of interest rates. He said this would not bring on a recession.

Heller, now a University of Minnesota economics professor, based his tax increase advocacy on a $20-billion increase in government spending, 4 to 5 per cent boost in plant spending and an increase in war costs of $10 billion to $12 billion.

Keep Children Home In Poor Road Protest

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Twelve parents from a remote section of Rio Arriba County in northern New Mexico have been convicted of keeping their children out of school to protest what they claimed was the dangerous condition of roads over which their children had to travel.

In a nonjury trial, Dist. Judge Samuel Z. Montoya said Saturday he sympathized with the parents' desire for a better road

Old Faithful Story Line In NBC Movie

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Fame Is the Name of the Game" a two-hour motion picture made for initial television broadcast, proved to be very satisfactory viewing in many ways.

The NBC broadcast Saturday night was a bright, slick retread of one of the most familiar plots in movieland. It was of particular interest inside the industry because it may start a trend now that the supply of old movies is running low. After NBC has shown the million-dollar movie several times, it will be released for theater distribution.

The story line was as old as the talkies: The intrepid, wise-cracking star reporter who talks back to his boss, confounds the cops and solves the murder. It was spiced with blackmail, illicit love affairs, fights, gunplay and nightclub scenes, but the clothes, the dialogue and the musical score were modern.

Because it was made for television's small screens, there were plenty of closeups and large, busy scenes were avoided. It was designed to fit the time period and to accommodate the breaks for commercials. At no time did the viewer feel that some editor had chopped out an important chunk of plot to make room for a sales pitch.

There were some engaging people, too. Tony Franciosa played the star reporter eager for the scoop as if he had invented the character. Jill St. John, the beautiful blonde temptress, may have telegraphed the windup by her aggressive behavior but she added some zing to the business.

The show must be counted as a successful experiment. It was not a major motion picture, but it was lively, gay and held one's attention to the end. The real name of the game is entertainment — and this one filled the bill.

ABC's "Scope" which has concentrated for almost a year on the Viet Nam conflict, almost timidly showed excerpts Saturday from an off-Broadway protest play, "Viet Rock," violently anti-war and anti-Viet Nam war particularly.

The scenes from the play seemed amateurish and overemotional, but host Howard K. Smith was so nervously eager to disassociate himself with the whole thing he was almost rude What'd you expect us to put our Overhead Cam Six in?

An ordinary car?

Our revolutionary 165-hp OHC 6 is so revolutionary we had to do something special with it. So we made it standard in all Tempests and Le Mans.

You see, it was inspired by those famous overhead cam engines in expensive European sports cars. With a few Pontiac refinements, of course.

That's why it'll keep running and running until somebody turns it off. And with a power reserve for expressway passing you'd normally expect from a V-8.

We even offer a 215-hp version that makes a lot of big V-8s seem awfully extravagant. Which is why we say, with a 6 like this who needs an 8?

Incidentally, a four-way hazard warning flasher, backup lights, and GM's energy absorbing steering column are some of the safety features also standard in all Tempests and Le Mans. So how can you possibly resist seeing your Pontiac dealer right now?

Viet Nam Costs To Get Closer Surveillance

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The head of a U.S. government watchdog team said today his group soon will broaden its surveillance of the way American agencies handle a $25-billion effort in Viet Nam.

"We're going to look into anything and everything here," said Homer Anderson, manager of the two-month-old Saigon office of the General Accounting Office.

The GAO has 12 staff investigators in Saigon. Seven have been on special assignments since August, checking particularly on more than $800 million in construction contracts, the handling of the $700-million-a-year AID program, and persistent congestion in the Saigon port.

Anderson said the seven would return to Washington soon, leaving a permanent force of about five.

Until now, the GAO team has been bearing down on the auditing practices of the Agency of International Development and other U.S. bodies here. Now, said Anderson in an interview, the GAO team will broaden the scope of its surveillance.

Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., referred to this in talking with newsmen at Da Nang Sunday. Young spoke then of an increase in the GAO staff in Viet Nam.

Young completed a three-day inspection tour in Viet Nam today and flew to Bangkok for a look at U.S. military activities there.

Again there were no U.S. casualties, the spokesman said.

Earlier in the day Premier Nguyen Cao Ky visited the Plei Djereng Special Forces camp to decorate Maj. Gen. Arthur S. Collins, the 4th Division commander; Brig. Gen. David O. Byars, assistant commander; and 30 other U.S. officers.

The U.S. military command reported only three small skirmishes in various sectors and said 18 Viet Cong were killed.

The U.S. Navy had a busy day Sunday, reporting that 7th Fleet destroyers and rocket ships fired more than 1,300 five-inch shells and rockets at targets in the South Viet Nam. The targets included supply routes, storage areas and fortified positions, the Navy said.

There was still no word from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands whether they would order a truce at Christmas and New Year's. The Viet Cong announced Saturday it would stop fighting for 48 hours on the Christmas weekend and for 48 hours over the New Year.

The rear of the 1965 Ford and the front of the 1959 Ford were reported damaged.

on the top of his head, and a laceration under the chin.

The truck was damaged on the right side. It was towed to Sedalia by Parks wrecker.

The Pettis County Sheriff's office reported Monday morning Henderson was free under a $110.50 bond to appear in Magistrate Court here Dec. 8 on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

There was a human interest story connected with the accident. Combs had his small dog with him at the time of the wreck. The dog was found cuddled up against Combs, staying with its master until the body was removed from the scene.

At the time the dog stood about, and when the cars which had stopped left, and the wrecked truck pulled away; the dog remained at the scene. Later in the morning Sgt. Van Winkle stopped at the location and the dog came toward his car as he pulled away and followed for a short distance.

Later U. L. Parks, Virgil Bacon and a newspaper reporter went to the scene looking for the dog. It had disappeared and their endeavors to attract him failed and they returned to town. Shortly before noon Sgt. Van Winkle and the reporter returned to the scene again and parked for a time with the radio turned up and in a few minutes the dog emerged from some weeds a short distance away and walked to the patrol car.

The back door was opened and the dog jumped in. They took it to the County jail where Henderson said he would take the dog back to Marshall to the Combs family as soon as he was released on bond.

In the meantime the dog was placed in the women's department of the jail to await the release of the friend of its master to be returned to Marshall.

Although not a pedigree dog, everyone who saw it was anxious that it be found and returned to the Combs family. Combs has three children at home and his wife in Marshall.

Tragic Fire Recounted In Boston

BOSTON (AP)—The site is now a parking lot. No marker is there to tell the tragic story. But some visitors to Boston still want to see the place where the Cocoanut Grove fire claimed 493 lives.

It was a wartime Saturday night 24 years ago today when the fire blazed up at 17 Piedmont St.

The Cocoanut Grove night club near Boston's theater district was jammed with more than 1,000 persons, in a space for about 600. It was a noisy, fun-seeking crowd.

No one is quite sure how the fire started. Something started a chain of fire streaking across the room through decorations.

It took just 13 minutes more to end the lives of hundreds in a chamber seething with fire and lethal gases.

Lights went out as the crowd panicked, stumbling and groping for exits. People jammed both sides of a revolving door so it could not move either way. Others rushed to an exit on the other side of the building and piled up against the door. It swung inward and couldn't be opened against the crush.

Alarms brought 14 fire engine companies, plus ladder trucks, rescue squads, civilian defense men, Red Cross plus 400 sailors and Coast Guard men from Boston bases.

Some survivors got out through one side of a double door tugged open by an employee. A few got out through small windows in toilet rooms. Several got out through dressing room windows to an adjoining roof. One group found safety in the club refrigerator.

Out of the deadly fire came some useful changes.

Doctors learned much in techniques of treating burns.

Boston's building code came under sharp study and became one of the most stringent in the country.

It brought outward swinging doors with panic bars. It brought more awareness of fire hazards.

It produced rules limiting the number of persons in public places.

The investigation that followed the disaster brought indictment to 10 men. Only the owner — Barnett Welansky, an attorney — ever went to prison.

Welansky was convicted of conspiring to violate the build-

American Men Choose Their Russian Lawyers

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Americans facing trial in Leningrad have chosen their lawyers from the Leningrad Bar Association, the U.S. Embassy said today.

Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. of Salt Lake City, Utah, selected Dydor S. Rozhdestvensky to defend him against a charge of violating Soviet currency regulations.

Ray Buel Wortham Jr. of North Little Rock, Ark., chose Semyon A. Khayfytis to defend him against a currency charge and also a charge of stealing an antique statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel.

The two men, each 25 and former U.S. Army lieutenants, were arrested Oct. 1 as they were trying to drive out of the Soviet Union. A date for their trial has not been made public.

Gene Winters, 29, of Florissant, Mo., was killed Saturday and his wife Betty critically injured in a head-on crash on Missouri 91 three miles south of Bell City.

The patrol said Winters was passing another car when he struck an auto driven by Harry Penrose, 42, of Benton, Mo. Penrose and a passenger in his car were hospitalized at Sikeson in serious condition. Mrs. Winters was taken to a Cape Girardeau hospital in critical condition.

Kinard Neighbors, 51, of Gilbertsville, Ky., was killed Saturday in a three-car crash on U.S. 61 two miles south of Portageville.

The Highway Patrol said Neighbors was killed when a car driven by Clyde Goff, 53, of Wardell, Mo., struck a second car head-on while attempting to pass, and then struck the car driven by Neighbors.

The other fatalities were reported earlier.

The Talk On Wall Street Is Its Own Management

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Some big problems hang over the stock market today that have little to do with prices. They involve, instead, the administration of the marketplace itself.

A measure of their size is reflected in the talk of Wall Street, which frequently these days is not about prices and investments but, instead, about matters such as these:

1. The accounting profession's responsibility, and sometimes its failure, to provide shareowners with accurate information.

2. The growing role, perhaps even danger, of increasing institutional ownership and trading of stock.

3. The distribution of information — or the failure to distribute it — so stockholders will have an equal chance of evaluating the worth of a stock.

Viewing these problems in a little more detail:

Accounting — Lawsuits by shareowners are becoming more common, and one large firm has been indicted for fraud in preparing a stockholder report. But there are varying degrees of misrepresentation or confusion short of fraud.

Some certified public accountants have been accused recently of succumbing to corporate pressure to make an annual report look better than it is.

Another problem is the variety of alternatives that can be used in reporting results. Companies with very similar experiences may report figures that vary widely. This, of course, confuses even the experts.

Institutional ownership — The billions of dollars that institutions — funds, insurance companies, trusts, etc. — invest in the market sometimes causes wide price fluctuations and wide concern also.

How many of the 20 million people who are now shareowners can afford the wide price swings that result from institutional buying or selling? The question is getting some serious examination at the highest levels of the financial community.

Institutional ownership creates another big problem. Since funds often concentrate so much money in the stock of a company they may acquire a dominant financial position. Should they then tell management how to run the company?

Information distribution — This is a subject that increasingly occupies the time of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Large investors, it seems, can receive trading information well ahead of small investors, thus permitting them to act faster. Or, by the very nature of their position, professional investors seek out and obtain information not available to small investors.

The big question here is what constitutes "inside" information; that is, information that should be available only to the officers of a company until the time it is released simultaneously and impartially to the public?

Where Is Your Treasure, In The Attic Or Heaven?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One of every three babies born today will live to be 80. But science doesn't seem to be speeding up very quickly to the time when nearly everyone will achieve a longevity of 100 to 150 years.

Is your front door becoming obsolete? Studies show that in suburban homes 90 per cent of the traffic is between the garage and a side or back door.

Leprosy, one of the oldest of man's ailments, still remains something of a mystery. Now generally known as Hansen's disease, it affects some 12 million victims throughout the world.

Medical researchers are still uncertain how the disease enters the bodies of those it strikes.

Are you keeping in a drawer as family heirlooms or good luck pieces any old U.S. silver dollars? Well, look for one dated 1804. A coin dealer may pay you several thousand dollars for it.

Liabilities from business failures in 1946 totaled $67,349,000. The total for last year was more than $1.3 billion. The rule of prosperity seems to be, "The more some make, the more others lose."

Quotable notables: "You must learn day by day, year by year, to broaden your horizon. The more things you love, the more you are interested in, the more you enjoy, the more you are indignant about — the more you have left when anything happens." — Ethel Barrymore.

Did you ever hear of Crab Orchard, Petticoat Lane, Bug Tussle, Gobbler Knob, Rabbit Hash, and just plain Ordinary? Well, they are all place names in Kentucky.

Nature notes: The sluggish opossum, which rarely lives beyond its second birthday, doesn't even open its eyes until it is about 60 days old. The Vinegar River in Colombia is so sour because of seepings from a nearby volcano that fish can't live in it. It's unfair to call amorous middle-aged men wolves — unfair to the wolves, that is. Most wolves are probably more monogamous than most men.

Worth remembering: "The average person probably hasn't stored up enough treasure in heaven to make the down payment on a harp."

The longer the trip, the faster you are likely to drive. A traffic study found that drivers going more than 400 miles travel 7.6 miles an hour faster than those going less than 20 miles.

Folklore: A sore on the tongue tip is a tipoff that you told a lie. Stubbing the left big toe is bad luck, stubbing the right, good luck. If your thumb itches, someone is coming to visit you.

It was the French writer Rochefoucauld who observed, "Old men are fond of giving good advice to console themselves for their inability to set bad examples."

Willing to Settle for 81?

How long do you think you are going to live?

Well, if an eminent pathologist is right, you can stick around until you are 81 — provided you are an average person and that some hothead doesn't drop a hydrogen bomb.

The only way to raise this figure, in the opinion of Dr. Robert R. Kohn of Western Reserve University, is to cure aging itself. And he concedes that this doesn't appear likely — right now, at least.

Aging, says Dr. Kohn, is a normal disease. And he points out that even if positive cures are found for such major killers as cancer and hardening of the arteries, old mother nature will slug you with the Sunday punch—a thing called natural death.

Dr. Kohn's pronouncement is interesting but not too frightening. To the young, 81 years seems an infinity they cannot envision. To those who have reached and passed the magic mark will come a sense of satisfaction that they are proving they are above average — something most of us secretly suspect.

And those who are approaching 81 will be comforted by the normal reaction, "He doesn't mean me."

Actually, Dr. Kohn's conclusions need not be regarded as too significant to society in general.

It is trite but true that it isn't how long you live that counts, but how you use your time. The case of a young man named John F. Kennedy comes to mind.

And some of the most important contributions to human welfare have been and are being made by young minds over 81.

The best formula for living still seems to be to make every day count and leave the actuarial worries to Dr. Kohn and the insurance statisticians.

It's much more fun to keep so busy living that you don't have the time or inclination to wonder how long it's going to last.

The World Today

World Stupefied By Red China Antics

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — In less than 35 years mainland China has moved from a dilapidated, medieval condition, complete with war lords, to one of the great powers of the earth, but with a difference.

It is unified but only to the extent that it is controlled by one organization, the Communist party, and one group of chieftains, the party leaders under the thumb of the father of it all, Mao Tse-tung.

But it is so ripped by internal dissension that it looks like a nation on the fringe of lunacy, acting out a fantasy.

Despite all the interpretations of Red China's troubles, much if not most are basically guesswork which tries to patch fragments of information together about a nation where few outsiders are privy to Red China's insiders.

But even the rest of the Communist world seems stupefied by the antics of the Red Chinese leadership and over the weekend the Soviet Union called on the Chinese to put a curb on Mao.

Under him China has had one disaster after another in foreign relations, climaxed by their break with the Soviet Union, one-time partner and biggest neighbor.

What seems to have happened is this: Mao failed to rivet control; or at 72 he got careless about it; or some of his top lieutenants, anxious about the future of the country or hungry for power of their own, began to plot or disagree among themselves on the succession to Mao when he dies or fades; or Mao, inflexible to change, sticks to a vision of China which seems outdated to his underlings.

Whatever the cause of what's happening now, the result is chaos: He has mustered to his support millions of Chinese youths who, under the badge of the "Red Guard," have tried by violence and numbers to terrorize the nation into a docile obedience to Mao.

Since the army has not interfered yet, it can be assumed that, whatever his reason for what has happened, Mao still has the backing of the military. But that can change fast. Meanwhile, so the youths could perform, schools have been closed, factories idled, railroads tied in knots.

When a dictator has to depend on youngsters by the millions to chant his slogans as a symbol of unity, the picture is one of revolution by irresponsibility, even of childishness. This isn't the way he won his power. He didn't conquer China with children.

With this spectacle in front of them, the members of the United Nations in New York are busy wrestling with proposals about letting Red China have a U.N. membership which the United States has managed to frustrate for 16 years and seems most likely able to frustrate this year again.

The General Assembly is to vote on a proposal for a year's study of what to do with China's U.N. seat, still occupied by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

There have been proposals to replace Nationalist China with Red China in the United Nations. One of the proposals lost in a close vote last year. The idea is expected to lose again this year.

On the other hand the assembly will probably approve a move — sponsored by the United States successfully last year and now once again — to require a two-thirds vote to change China's representation in the United Nations.

Such a two-thirds vote, of course, is harder to get than a simple majority vote, which is the obvious reason why the United States supports it. If the world had to vote on the biggest mess of 1966 it would have to be Red China.

Some false-card plays shouldn't work but when you know that you have no other chance you might as well false-card and hope for the best.

North's three-heart response is the best bid at his disposal. A two-no-trump response is inadequate while either a two-trump raise or a bid of the horrible diamond suit gives more misinformation than the three heart call.

There is nothing wrong with the six spade contract except that when South sees that three of diamonds lead he is sure that it is a singleton and that a diamond ruff is going to defeat him.

Sure enough, East wins with the ace of diamonds. If South meekly plays the seven East is bound to reason that West has not opened that three spot from either king-three or queen-three and East will return a diamond.

If South drops the king East may decide that it is a singleton and East may try to cash his ace of clubs.

East really should not do this. If East reviews the bidding he will note that South has jumped from four to six spades. That sort of bidding indicates a void somewhere. With potential losers in both clubs and diamonds South would probably have tried a four no-trump bid. Hence, East should not be fooled by that king play but you get nowhere if you don't try and South should try.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

By Jim Davidson Circuit Judge Elections Again Under Criticism

If you live in outstate Missouri, you elect your circuit judges for six-year terms. They run on a party ticket and are subject to voter approval as is any other elected official.

However, if you are a citizen of Jackson County or St. Louis City, your circuit judge is nominated by a non-partisan commission and appointed by the governor. You have the option of retaining or removing him at a general election ballot, but as a voter you have no voice in his initial appointment.

What is the difference?

Those arguing for or against Missouri's non-partisan court plan see a great difference, but their views generally receive little public notice until a large number of circuit judges are turned out of office in an election, as happened Nov. 8 in St. Louis County, which has not been allowed to adopt the plan.

Seven Democratic circuit judges there were replaced with Republicans — not solely on the basis of qualifications, but largely on the party which they represented.

Missouri has been cited as leading the nation with its non-partisan court plan, which was adopted in the 1945 Constitution. But the plan only applies to the selection of judges to the Missouri Supreme Court, the three Missouri Appeals Courts in Kansas City, St. Louis and Springfield, and circuit and probate judges in the City of St. Louis and Jackson County.

A provision in the Constitution affirmed by a Missouri Supreme Court decision requires that enabling legislation be passed before other counties, including St. Louis County, can adopt the non-partisan plan on a statewide basis which could include magistrates and probate judges as well as circuit judges.

Former Gov. John M. Dalton, now practicing law in Jefferson City, said he proposed such legislation to both sessions of the General Assembly during his administration, but that influential opposition from north St. Louis County defeated it.

Much of the opposition came from the Steamfitters Union which would rather have circuit judges elected instead of depending on appointments from a Governor who might not support their candidates, some state officials have commented. Dalton said he favored adoption of the plan on a statewide basis, but that the legislation proposed by him was directed at the more serious problem which existed in St. Louis County.

What Gov. Warren Hearnes will recommend to this session of the Legislature is yet unknown. No recommendation was made to the last session, but in an address to the American Bar Association convention last year in Miami, the Governor inferred that he might favor statewide adoption of the plan.

Most judges and attorneys will concede that the plan, as it is now in effect, has some drawbacks. Primarily, criticism is aimed at the difficulty in trying to remove a judge appointed to office if he does not fulfill his duties.

The Missouri Bar Assn. appointed a committee in 1964 to study the plan. This committee is studying not only the statewide application but also other proposed methods of removal from office and retirement. A Citizens Committee, headed by publisher Robert M. White III,

Mexico, also is working with the bar association to study revisions and a broader application.

However, it is more than speculation that proposed enabling legislation for statewide adoption will be introduced in the next General Assembly, whether it is included in the Governor's legislative program or not. And the impact of the St. Louis County election may provide the impetus to see such a proposal to its passage.

Graham Withdraws, Will Not Challenge Speaker Election

Rep. Thomas D. Graham (D-Jefferson City), former Speaker of the Missouri House of Representatives who was defeated two weeks ago in a bid for his fourth term as speaker, said last Wednesday that he would not bring the issue up on the opening of the next legislative session in January.

Shortly after his defeat in a Democratic party caucus by Rep. James E. Godfrey (D-St. Louis City), Graham stated that he would ask that the entire House vote on the new speaker, rather than accept the caucus decision. Now he has changed his mind and will remain silent.

Democrat Pick-ups

Remember the game a few years back where they would have the women empty their purses and the one who had the most things in it won the prize?

Recently at the Make It Yourself With Wool contest there was a need for a piece of chalk and everybody was surprised when one of the women opened her purse and pulled out a piece of chalk. She was not a teacher, she was a housewife. And there wasn't any good reason why she would be carrying around a piece of chalk, but she had it when someone needed it.

"Oh, yes," she replied, when they all laughed. "I carry a scavenger bag."

Now she has us curious. What else do you suppose she had in her purse? The assortment must have been rare if it included a piece of chalk. — H. L.

ARIZONA STAR: Rosbif, Beishol and Kokteil. — Those who like to look up the roots of words know that into the English language have come thousands of words from other languages. In fact, if one takes the normal development of English from ancient Anglo-Saxon and Latin times, virtually the whole language is a derived or a borrowed language. So one notes with interest also that English now is spreading back to other languages. Three examples are rosibif, the French word for roast beef; beishol, the Spanish word for baseball; and now Kokteil, the Russian word for Cocktail.

The last is of special note because it is a true modern English word if one exists, in the sense of a type of drink. The Russians have adopted it in fashion pictures. Under the headline, "Moscow Fashion Frivolities,"

Await Ruling On FBI Bugging Case

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The FBI is not exactly holding its breath, but some of its agents are worried that U. S. Judge Oliver Gasch will rule that J. Edgar Hoover has to testify in the sensational case of bugging at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel, involving the conversations of Bobby Baker, former Secretary of the Senate and righthand man to Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

Hoover himself is reported not to be losing any sleep. He knows that Judge Gasch, a strait-laced public servant who calls the shots as he sees them, has spent much of his career as a public prosecutor, and prosecutors lean toward the FBI.

But, meanwhile, there are some amazing developments in the eavesdropping on Bobby Baker and his friend Fred Black, the public relations man who has won a new trial because the FBI romped over his constitutional rights. Black had been convicted of tax evasion, until the Justice Department went before the Supreme Court to make the embarrassing confession that J. Edgar Hoover had been eavesdropping and wire tapping for years, apparently without the knowledge of the Attorney General.

One development in the bugging of the Sheraton-Carlton is that the FBI agents also listened in on conversations in the VIP suite, where foreign visitors were entertained.

The Carlton is located only a step across Lafayette Square from the White House and is convenient for the entertainment of VIP's.

These visitors will now be interested in learning that for three months, Feb. 7 to April 25, 1963, every remark they made in Suite 434-36 was listened to by American agents 24 hours a day.

This was because Fred Black's suite was next door—438-440—and the eavesdropping equipment which the FBI installed was so strong that it picked up conversation in the neighboring VIP suite.

The United States has long been critical of police-state methods by Communist nations and at one time accused the Soviet government of placing a bug in the American Embassy. This was over twenty years ago. Today if a bug were found in the Moscow hotel suite of an American visitor there would be an international uproar.

Note — This year President Tito of Yugoslavia fired the Vice President of Yugoslavia, Aleksander Rankovic, because he had engaged in wire tapping. Today the Communist world is having the laugh on the United States — thanks to Hoover.

Will FBI Be Prosecuted?

Another important development in the Bobby Baker case is the fact that the FBI has now violated his constitutional rights. This has been officially stipulated by William O. Bittman, Justice Department attorney who is contesting the case against Baker.

Reason for the stipulation was that the Justice Department was trying to dodge the fact that J. Edgar Hoover has got himself in a position where the FBI can be prosecuted either for housebreaking or violation of constitutional rights. The latter is a felony with a punishment up to ten years in jail.

At present the FBI is being prosecuted criminally in Nevada, where it placed the equivalent of 125 wire taps, in collaboration with the Central Telephone Company of Nevada, also a defendant.

It should be noted in fairness that FBI men are extremely efficient and carry out orders. They should not be blamed personally. Nevertheless a criminal violation is a criminal violation.

How J. Edgar Hoover and the Justice Department are going to get around this law violation remains to be seen. For the Justice Department, which is in charge of enforcing the law, will be in the position of prosecuting an arm of the Justice Department, the FBI. In Nevada this is not the case because state law is involved. But, in the District of Columbia, federal law is involved and the Justice Department is entrusted with enforcing it.

Hoover's Charmed Life

The Justice Department is now under Acting Attorney General Ramsey Clark, an able young man who took over when Nicholas Katzenbach was transferred to be Under Secretary of State. There has been speculation that Katzenbach's demotion was due to the fact that he OK'd the public confession of Hoover's wire tapping. Such an admission had never been made before, though long suspected.

So far Hoover has led a charmed life. He had a great career back in the crime-busting days. But ever since President Johnson continued him in office two years beyond statutory retirement at the age of 70, troubles have piled up for Hoover. The President will have another decision to make in about thirty days, when Hoover reaches his 72nd birthday, Jan. 1, 1967.

Ironically Hoover has put himself in the position of probably saving the prosecution of the President's one-time friend Bobby Baker by listening in on his conversations.

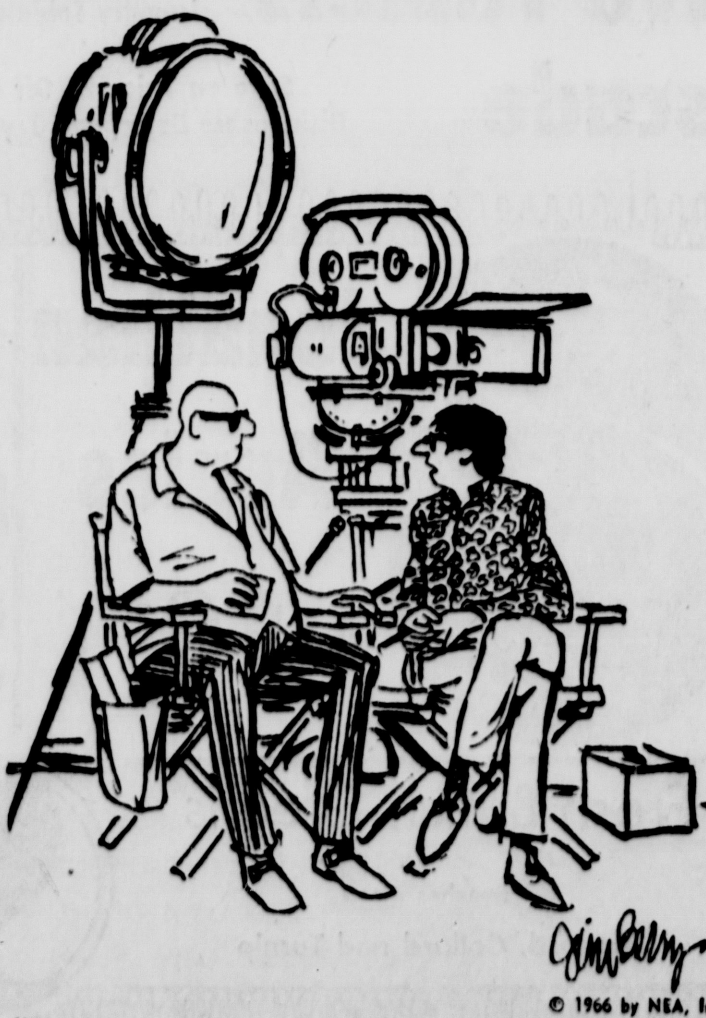

This is because Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, contends that the Justice Department has nullified its case against Baker by violating his constitutional rights through eavesdropping.

The Justice Department counters by arguing that it listened in on only eleven of Baker's conversations and that these were not important to the income tax indictments subsequently brought against him. Just how the Justice Department can sort out certain wire-tapped conversations from others, and claim that only eleven are germane to the case, is a fine point of law which remains to be decided by the courts.

Thousands of words of eavesdropped conversation is involved of which the Justice Department has sorted out only 34 pages recording Baker's conversations. But Baker's lawyers have not been permitted to review the balance of the eavesdropped evidence to see whether they are getting the whole truth.

Such are the problems when a government resorts to police state methods.

If you have cockroaches in your home or business establishment and want to get rid of them, there are insecticides which will get the job done.

The use of chlordane, dieldrin, diazinon, ronnel, or dichlorvos plus dieldrin is recommended.

Apply chlordane in a two per cent emulsion spray or paint-on liquid over infested areas. Or use a 0.5 per cent diazinon, dieldrin, or dichlorvos plus dieldrin, or one per cent ronnel spray.

Synergized pyrethrum sprays provide good immediate control. They must be applied at frequent intervals because their effective life is not as long as other insecticides.

Synergized pyrethrum sprays also provide a flushing action. They drive the roaches out of hiding or force them to expose themselves to other insecticides.

Diazinon, dichlorvos, ronnel, and pyrethrum are less persistent than chlordane or dieldrin. This means they will have to be applied more often. Most German cockroaches are resistant to chlordane and dieldrin, therefore, one of the other insecticides must be used for effective control.

Additional information on cockroaches, including illustrations and descriptions of the four kinds most commonly found in homes, can be obtained in MU Guide, 7384, entitled, Cockroaches. A free copy of the Guide can be obtained at your county University extension center.

Ways To Salvage Corn

An important question for all those who are considering livestock as a means of recovering down corn is: What kind of livestock would be best for the job?

If the fields are already fenced with hog tight fences or if electric fences can be used, 75 to 100 lb. pigs can do an excellent job of cleaning up corn. The only trouble is, it takes a lot of them to clean up large fields. Once they reach 160 to 170 pounds, they will probably do better if confined to a smaller lot. During the time they are in the stalk field, they will need plenty of water and around 3/4 to 1 lb. of 40 per cent protein supplement per head per day. If fields are not cleaned up by the time the pigs reach the 160 to 170 lb. weights, other younger pigs would be more efficient for finishing the job.

Sows are likely to get too fat if turned into fields with large amounts of down grain. They could be used to finish clearing up a field after pigs had cleaned up most of the grain.

If cattle are to be used, animal scientists feel that thin two's or good sized yearlings probably offer the most desirable alternative among cattle choices. They can use large amounts of grain gleaned from fields in a comparatively short time and then can be finished in dry lot. Around 2 lbs. of a 32 to 40 per cent supplement should be fed to each steer while he is running on stalk fields with large amounts of down grain.

A close watch should be maintained to be sure that steers aren't kept in fields so long that the grain feed becomes inadequate. Additional feed may have to be provided to supplement what the steers get out of the fields when the picking gets thin. Another possibility would be to let the steers get most of the grain and then use cows or a bunch of steers being wintered to finish cleaning the fields.

It may be desirable to use an electric fence to confine animals (hogs or cattle) to a small portion of the ungleaned field at a time, forcing them to clean up a part of the field before making the rest available to them.

Steers should either be on full feed before they are turned into stalk fields with large amounts of corn still in the field or considerable care should be exercised in getting them started gradually.

Breeding cows are not considered the most desirable for cleaning fields with large amount of grain left in them. They will do a good job of cleaning up the field but they may become too fat for best calf production results and the flesh they put on serves no economic purpose except to get rid of the corn.

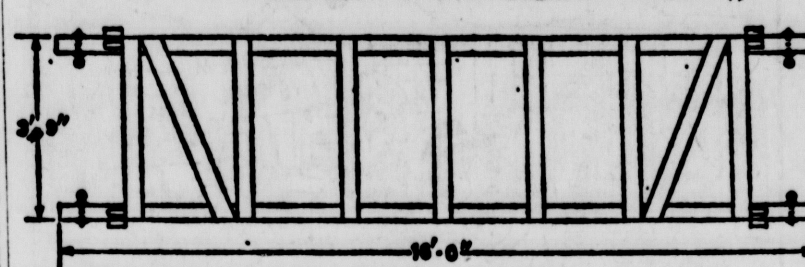

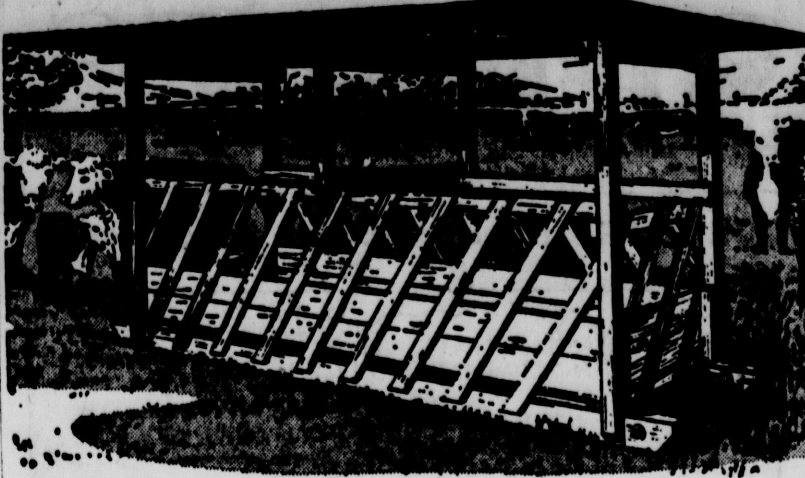

Fall and Winter Soil Treatments

Harvest is well under way and given normal weather will be complete in a relatively short time. Once crops are out of the field, the application of soil treatments becomes a practical, and in some cases, a highly desirable practice.

The application of lime and fertilizer in late fall, and early winter is growing in popularity. There are several reasons for this trend. First of all we are planting corn at an earlier date, and fall application fits in with the speeded up planting time. Secondly, fall plowing is on the increase, where erosion isn't a hazard, and using soil treatments before the land is plowed, works well. Third, soil conditions at this time of the year are more favorable for the operation of spreading equipment than in early spring. Last, but not least, farmers have found that late fall and early winter treatments compare favorably with those put on in the spring.

As far as the application of limestone is concerned, there is an added advantage. Applying lime in the fall gives it just that much more time to break down before next year's crop is planted. This can be important as far as yields are concerned. Much of the acreage planted to corn and beans is in need of limestone. Putting it on now, can help next year's crop.

Soil conditions are also important in the applications of lime. We have all seen lime trucks stuck in the spring of the year. We have also noticed

WANT TO CUT CATTLE FEEDING COSTS? A plan for a cattle feeding rack may help do it, says Ralph Ricketts, University of Missouri extension agricultural engineer. Working drawings of the plan, No. 5925, can be obtained by sending your order and 25 cents to 200 Agricultural Engineering, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo. The slant-barred rack is easy to build and is portable. One rack provides feeding space for 25 cattle if fed roughage free choice, or 12 head if all are fed at the same time. The slant in the bars makes it hard for cattle to pull their heads out when they have a mouthful of hay. Racks with V openings have been popular over the state for many years because they also save hay. Ricketts says some users of the newer slanted type bars think they save as much hay as the V type and are much easier to build.

soil compaction where lime was applied, on soft ground, or on fields that were plowed. Fall and winter application of limestone is an excellent way to avoid compaction problems. Generally speaking, soils are firm now, and any compaction which does occur will be partially corrected by freezing and thawing this winter.

The use of fertilizer during fall or winter may include basic treatments called for by soil test, or the application of all or part of the nitrogen for next year's corn crop. Experience has shown that either is satisfactory, where erosion isn't a problem. Both may be used even though the land isn't fall plowed. Fall application of nitrogen, however is not recommended on sandy bottom soils, unless a cover crop is grown.

Of all the soil treatments, nitrogen is the one most widely used during the fall and early winter season. Consequently, more questions arise concerning the use of nitrogen than the other nutrients. Experimental data shows that all applied nitrogen gives essentially the same yields as spring applied material, except on sandy land. Any of the different forms of nitrogen are suitable for fall use. This includes ammonia, liquid or solution materials, urea, ammonium nitrate, ammonium sulfate, or the nitrogen in dry, or liquid mixed fertilizers. All except ammonia or pressure solutions may be applied to the surface then plowed down, with crop residues. The pressure solutions, and ammonia must be placed down in the soil, just as they are at any other season. Total nitrogen needs of next year's corn crop can be applied now. If a split application is desired, this too can work satisfactorily. Livestock Forage Manual Farmers who have a sizeable portion of their farm devoted to pasture or hay and silage crops will be interested in the Missouri Livestock Forage Manual which has just been published by your University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

And there is reason for you to be interested. After all, Missouri has more land in pasture and hay than it has in row crops. As you drive through the countryside of the state you will notice a wide contrast in pastures and hay fields. Some pastures will be highly productive providing plenty of feed for beef and dairy cattle. And lands that will produce three to four tons or more per acre of high-quality forage. Yet, most pastures are overgrazed. . . don't produce enough forage, or else don't produce it at the time of the year when it is most needed. We of the Extension Division and College of Agriculture at the University of Missouri who are concerned with forages have noticed these differences too and we feel there is great potential for more profitable use of these lands for both beef and dairy producers. So we have done something to help you Missourians who want to improve your livestock forage production. We have come up with this Missouri Livestock Forage Manual.

During the past 18 months the Department of field crops, soils, animal husbandry, entomology, agricultural engineering and agricultural economics have been working to pull together the information we have available on livestock forages, and present it in a way that will help you improve your own forage systems on your farm.

This includes information on fertilizing, seedbed preparation, species selection and weed control. It has information on management of pastures and harvesting hay and silage and matching the production to the number of livestock over the seasons for best utilization. The collected information outlines several plans or "systems" for a number of different beef cattle operations or a number of different kinds of dairy systems. Information on the economics of livestock forage was also collected to give farmers guidelines to increasing profit from their pasture and roughage.

Put together, this information makes up the Missouri Livestock Forage Manual. For you interested beef and dairy producers, this manual can help provide the knowledge and planning methods needed to make your livestock-forage operations a success.

If you want this manual, you can obtain copy at your County University Center.

Oberammergau Passion Play To England

LONDON (AP) — Britain will get a chance to see an English-language version of the famed Oberammergau passion play next year despite a row over the fact that a Jewish impresario is presenting it.

Philip Solomon, of Dunedin Theatrical Productions Ltd., who also is executive director of the pirate radio station, Radio Caroline, obtained rights for presenting a shortened version of the play in Britain, Ireland and the United States, along with Vic Lewis and Brian Epstein of Nemo Enterprises. All three are Jews. The firm manages Britain's famed pop singing group, the Beatles.

Immediately upon learning of

the deal, the Board of Deputies of British Jews strongly condemned any Jew for taking part in such a promotion. The board thus echoed the condemnation of Jews in Germany who had assailed the passion play on the ground it has an anti-Semitic tone.

Lewis and Epstein promptly withdrew. Epstein said, "I have withdrawn because I will not give offense to Jewish communities here or anywhere else."

Solomon said he would go ahead with plans to bring the play to England but intended to see there was nothing anti-Jewish in it. There is a clause in his contract with the Germans, he pointed out, "completely ruling out anything anti-Semitic."

The producer of the play over here will be Lothar Bock of Munich and the new text of the shortened version, lasting 2 1/2 hours instead of eight, will be compiled in German by Jochen Blume, a German stage and television director. Music will be composed by Herman Thieme.

Finesse And Huge Scores In NFL Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This was the National Football League on a whacky Sunday afternoon.

The Washington Redskins wall-poled the New York Giants, 72-41, in a record-setting romp.

Then there was St. Louis' 6-3 field goal victory over Pittsburgh—a finesse victory.

Washington Coach Otto Graham pushed his Redskins into the NFL record book with three seconds left when he sent in Charlie Gogolak for a 29-yard field goal that erased Los Angeles' 16-year record of 70 points in a single game.

"In a crazy game like this," shrugged Graham, "what's another three points?"

For the Cardinals, three more points can mean the difference between a victory and a defeat. St. Louis moved into a tie for first place in the Eastern Conference despite the fact that they went without a touchdown for the second straight week.

In other games Sunday, Green Bay opened a two-game lead in the Western Conference with only three games to play by beating Minnesota 28-16 while Los Angeles was stunning Baltimore 23-7. Chicago defeated Atlanta 23-6.

Defensive back Brig Owens scored two touchdowns and set up two others as the Redskins took the Giants apart. Washington's A. D. Whitfield scored three times and Charlie Taylor twice as the two teams combined for a record-smashing 16 touchdowns and 113 points. New York's Gary Wood threw for three TDs and ran for a fourth.

Jim Bakken kicked field goals from 26 and 15 yards out for the Cardinals, who have won three of their last four games by a total of 13 points. Mike Clark booted one from 47 yards for the Steelers.

Defensive back Herb Adderley was the hero for the Packers, partially blocking a punt to set up one touchdown and then intercepting a Fran Tarkenton pass to choke off a late Minnesota comeback.

Green Bay was protecting a 21-16 lead with two minutes left when Adderley picked off Tarkenton's pass after the Vikings had moved to midfield. Moments later, rookie Jim Grabowski raced 36 yards with the wrapup touchdown.

Los Angeles gave the Packers a boost by knocking off Baltimore—the Colts' second loss in as many weeks. The Rams limited Gary Cuozzo and a sub-par Johnny Unitas to only nine completed passes. Unitas, who injured his right shoulder two weeks ago and suffered five interceptions last Sunday, played only briefly in the second half and lost 20 yards passing.

Dick Bass jolted the Colts for 126 yards in 30 carries while Baltimore's running game managed only 33 yards in 18 attempts against Los Angeles' front wall.

Gale Sayers, running over a mud-soaked field, shredded Atlanta defenses for 172 yards in 19 carries as the Bears defeated the Falcons. Sayers also gained 63 yards on five passes.

Fireworks Are Provided By Reg Fleming

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Reg Fleming has hooked up with a winning combination...and the robust Ranger would rather fight than switch.

Fleming, the National Hockey League's penalty king, supplied both the fistic fireworks and the scoring punch Sunday night as New York trampled the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-0 for its third straight victory.

The squat, 193-pound batter, who has teamed with veterans Boom Boom Geoffrion and Earl Ingarfield on the Rangers' most productive attacking unit in recent weeks, scored two second-period goals after engaging Kent Douglas of the Leafs in a first-period slugging match.

He finished the night's work with early-season totals of seven goals and 62 penalty minutes.

New York climbed into a second-place tie with the Leafs, three points behind league-leading Chicago. Fleming and Ingarfield each scored Saturday afternoon in the Rangers' 4-1 victory over the Black Hawks.

Stan Mikita, the league's individual point leader, scored three goals as the Hawks rebounded Sunday night with a 5-4 decision over Boston.

In the other Saturday game, Montreal trimmed Detroit 3-1.

Cokes, Jesselin To Meet In Bout Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Curtis Cokes, the World Boxing Association welterweight champion, tonight meets the man indirectly responsible, at least, for Cokes being in the position of defending his title.

Jean Jesselin, the stubby Frenchman, was the fighter who beat Brian Curvis, the Welshman, and knocked him out of an elimination to decide the championship.

Cokes got Curvis' place and beat Luis Rodriguez and Manny Gonzalez to become recognized as champion.

And so, tonight at approximately 10 p.m. (CST), Cokes gives Jesselin a chance to take the title away from him. They meet at 15 rounds in Memorial Auditorium, which seats 10,500.

Cokes is a 7-5 favorite.

Green Resigns As Vanderbilt Coach

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Jack Green announced his resignation Sunday night as head football coach at Vanderbilt University.

He ended a four-year career at Vanderbilt with a 7-29-4 win-loss-tie record, and finished the current season Saturday with a 28-0 loss to Tennessee, for a 1-9 record this year.

Jinx Faces UCLA Bruins In League

NEW YORK (AP) — Will the UCLA Bruins overcome the jinx of being selected to win the national collegiate basketball championship in the preseason Associated Press poll?

Not a single pre-season choice has made good in the six years since the pre-season AP poll was started in 1961.

Now the Bruins are the choice to beat out Texas Western for the national crown in the 1967 season that opens Thursday.

The long-awaited varsity debut of Lew Alcindor, fabulous 7-foot-11 sophomore, swung the voting for UCLA in the AP panel of sports writers. Ever since the New York City high school star decided to enter the Los Angeles school, followers of the Bruins have predicted a new era of success for Coach Johnny Wooden's team. Alcindor and UCLA open the season Saturday night against Southern California.

UCLA polled 12 first-place votes to three for Texas Western and beat out the Miners from El Paso with an aggregate 163 points to 143 in the poll announced Sunday. Kentucky, the only other team to receive more than 100 points overall on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc. finished third with one first place vote and a total of 120 points.

Rounding out the pre-season Top Ten, in order, are Duke, Louisville, New Mexico, Houston, Western Kentucky, North Carolina and Cincinnati. Boston College, Kansas and Chicago Loyola failed to make the Top Ten by only a few points.

The pre-season poll compares as follows to the final Associated Press poll for the 1966 season before the championship NCAA tourney: Kentucky, Duke, Texas Western, Kansas, St. Joseph's, Pa., Chicago Loyola, Cincinnati, Vanderbilt, Michigan and Western Kentucky.

Miss Whitworth plays it safe at the Titleholders Golf Tournament, and her caution has paid off with back-to-back championships.

Miss Whitworth started a stroke back of Mary Mills of Ocean City, Miss., in the final round.

Miss Mills shot a final round 76 and dropped into a tie for second at 293 with Judy Kimball of Dallas, Tex., and shot a final round 75.

Leagues To Discuss Super Bowl

NEW YORK (AP) — The American and National Football Leagues open committee meetings today that are expected to result in the date and place for the Super Bowl and the mechanics of the first joint player draft.

A joint committee of the two leagues has been working for weeks on plans for the title game. The Los Angeles Coliseum and the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans reportedly top the list of possible sites. The date is expected to be either Jan. 8, or Jan. 15, both Sundays.

The AFL champion will be decided Monday, Dec. 26, and the NFL title game is set for Sunday, Jan. 1, both in the home park of the Eastern Division winner. Both leagues have tentatively scheduled their all-star games for Jan. 15, but a switch could be made.

The leagues also will try to set up a plan, date and site for a joint draft for 16 NFL teams, including New Orleans, and nine AFL clubs.

Other items on the agenda include a decision on the AFL's two-point conversion rule against the one-point rule of the NFL, and the NFL division of its conferences. The NFL will split its two eight-team conferences in two four-club divisions next year with playoffs between the division winners before the conference winners meet.

The NFL also may announce the owner of the New Orleans franchise.

The committee report will be discussed in separate meetings of both leagues and is expected to last two or three days.

Hickey Officially Named To His Post

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — The University of Connecticut finally has made it official, naming James B. Hickey athletic director.

Hickey, 47, was appointed Saturday to succeed Joseph O. Christian, who retired after 30 years as Connecticut athletic director. Hickey, football coach at the University of North Carolina, had been reported in line for the post for several months.

Colts Are Showing Aging Signs

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts are showing signs of age.

The once-feared Colt offense, which had sputtered in the two previous National Football League games, sank to a new low Sunday as the Los Angeles Rams manhandled Baltimore 23-7.

The Colts netted only 140 yards for 56 offensive plays, 69 on a pass from Gary Cuozzo to Willie Richardson with about three minutes left in the game.

Cuozzo and injured veteran Johnny Unitas completed 9 of 32 passes for 164 yards, but 57 of those were wiped out by the awesome Los Angeles line which smeared Colt quarterbacks for losses six times.

In addition to having their usually potent passing game smothered, the Colts picked up only 33 yards on 18 rushing attempts—14 by Unitas and Cuozzo after pass patterns broke down.

By comparison, fullback Dick Bass of Los Angeles gained 126 yards—14 less than the entire Colt offense.

Unitas, who underwent knee surgery during the 1965 season, has been bothered by a sore shoulder the past two weeks. He threw five interceptions last week and didn't start Sunday when he still experienced pain.

But Baltimore's trouble is more far-reaching than an injured Unitas.

The Colt offensive team includes guard Alex Sandusky with 13 years of NFL experience; end Raymond Berry, 12 years; Unitas, halfback Lenny Moore and center Dick Szymanski, 11 years; tackle Jim Parker, 10 years, and flanker Jimmy Orr, 9 years.

Elorde Might Reach End Of Boxing Line

NEW YORK (AP) — Flash Elorde, a millionaire fighter from Manila, might reach the end of the boxing line tonight in a second bid for Carlos Ortiz, world lightweight title at Madison Square Garden.

Ortiz, a sharp boxer and a crisp hitter, is a 3-1 favorite over the 31-year-old world junior lightweight (130 pounds) champion from the Philippines in the national television 15-round. Starting time is 10 p.m. EST.

Elorde almost grabbed the 135-pound division crown from Ortiz in Manila 2 1/2 years ago when he was leading the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker after 13 rounds. But in the 14th Elorde was cut over the eye and the bout was stopped.

"I know I can beat Ortiz," said Elorde. "I was beating him the last time before I was cut. I want to win the title now, then keep it two years and retire. If I lose this time, the chances are I will retire because there will be nothing left to fight for."

Adams State Claims Second Bowl Victory

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—Adams State of Colorado claimed its second victory in the Mineral Water Bowl by beating the Springfield State Bears 14-8 Saturday.

Adams defeated Northern Illinois in the 1962 bowl game, and Springfield lost to Northern Illinois in 1963.

The victory closed Adams' football season with an 8-2 record. The Bears finished 7-4.

Jim Attaway's passing featured drives of 66 and 62 yards for Adams' touchdowns.

Springfield marched 64 yards for its touchdown, scoring with only 28 seconds left in the game.

It was mostly a defensive contest, with Adams punting nine times and Springfield 11 times.

No Losses Considered By Barney

CHICAGO (AP)—A prizefighter has to be a battler, but for Barney Ross fate cruelly never let him put down his dukes or fighting heart.
Ross, 37, was a ring terror as world lightweight and welterweight champion in the mid 1930s.
However, boxing retirement in 1938 marked only the beginning of a fantastically grim struggle in the life and times of a little iron man born in New York City as Barnett David Rosofsky.
"Don't worry, I'm still in there swinging and I'll lick this thing, too," rasped Ross, who has throat cancer.
"I've had 10 weeks of cobalt treatments and the doctors have arrested its spread."
Ross is a man who wouldn't tell you about a nightmare if his life was full of them. And it has been.
There was the hellish night, in 1942, when Marine Corp. Ross killed 22 Japanese soldiers while standing guard over three wounded buddies in a Guadalcanal foxhole.
In 1946, there were four torturous months in a government hospital when Ross conquered the narcotics habit which "slipped up" on him, the aftermath of malaria contracted in the South Pacific jungles.
And now it's still another lonely, desperate battle — with no referee, no gloves and no rules — for the lion-hearted little guy who heard the roar of thousands:
When he won the lightweight title from Tony Canzoneri in 1933 at Chicago and the same year outlasted Canzoneri in a fierce rematch before 35,000 in New York's Polo Grounds.
When he had an epic three fight series with Jimmy McLar-nin, winning the welter crown from McLarin in 1934, losing a rematch and then whipping Mc-Larin in their third blistering tangle.
And when Barney was battered into retirement in losing the welter title to Hammering
Henry Armstrong on May 31, 1938.
Barney's ring earnings are gone, but not his friends.
In New York, a testimonial to Ross will be held Wednesday night at a Sunnyside Garden fight show aimed at raising $10, 000 for the stricken ex-champ.
On Dec. 12, Barney's Chicago friends will pay $50 each to attend a downtown theater at which film clips of Barney's old fights will be shown.
Constant companions of Ross are his attractive wife, Kathy, and Ira Colitz, a wealthy Chicagoan and boyhood chum of Barney's.
Barney Ross had 82 professional fights, lost only four and never was knocked out.
A man like Ross refuses to be knocked out.

Robinson Has List Of Tough Exercises
BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Robinson, one of the Baltimore Orioles, recuperating from a knee operation, leaves for his Los Angeles home today with a detailed list of exercises designed to strengthen his leg.
The slugging outfielder had a cracked cartilage and a piece of bone removed from his right knee last Tuesday. He was discharged from Johns Hopkins Hospital Sunday.
Robinson left the hospital on crutches, which he has been told to use until Dec. 5, unless his knee progresses enough so that they can be discarded.

Altitudes May Give Reds Edge
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Soviet and French athletes may be getting an edge on U.S. competitors in the 1968 Mexico City Olympics by constantly training at high altitudes, says an American physician.
Dr. Roy F. Goddard of Albuquerque, N.M., gave this opinion in an interview at the American Medical Association annual clinical convention Sunday.
"The thin air at Mexico City at 7,300-foot altitudes means performance times will be longer
— there probably will be no records set in maximum endurance events such as swimming and running, Goddard said.
"The Olympic Committee has set the limit of four weeks of training in Mexico City prior to the games — but there is no prohibition against training at high altitudes elsewhere between now and then.
"We know that camps have been established in mountainous areas of Russia and France for potential Olympic contestants, and I personally think American athletes would benefit too from a similar program in this country."

Jack Cupit Is Calm On Golf Course
LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Jacky Cupit is an unemotional man on and off the golf course.
Take Sunday, for instance.
When the 28-year-old Texan sank a one-foot putt for a par and a sudden death victory over Chi Chi Rodriguez in the $34,500
Cajun Classic, he tipped his hat ever so slightly and strode away with just a flicker of a smile across his face.
A few minutes later, after picking up the first-prize money of $4,850, he took a break from an interview in the press room to call his wife Delys back in Longview, Tex.
Jacky's end of the conversation went like this:
"Delys, I won. Yeah. Yeah. I knew you'd be glad.
"I shot a 72, but I won it in a playoff with Chi Chi. I beat him on the second hole.
"I'm glad you weren't here.
You'd have ulcers and everything by now."
Cupit, youngest of five golfing brothers, started out Sunday with a three-stroke lead. Rodriguez, the capricious Puerto Rican swinger was his closest rival in the tourney—final official stop for 1966 on the PGA circuit.
Both finished the 27 holes in 271—17 under par at the 6,555-yard Oakbourne County Club course, which plays to a regulation figure of 36-36—72.
Rodriguez earned $3,100 for second place. Dan Sikes, the golfing lawyer from Florida, fired a final round 67 for a 273, earning $2,200 and Dave Hill picked up $2,000 for his fourth place finish at 274.

Field Goal Try Was Meant For Practice Only WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington Coach Otto Graham says he wasn't aware his Redskins were in a position to break the National Football League's team scoring record when he called on place kicker Charlie Gogolak to boot a field goal against the New York Giants Sunday with only three seconds remaining in the game.
"I just wanted to give him some practice," said Graham.
"He hadn't had an opportunity to kick a field goal during the entire game and we thought this would be a good time to let him try a field goal under game conditions.
"And besides, in a crazy game like this, what's another three points?"
The Redskins were leading the Giants 69-41 when Gogolak went into the game to attempt the 29-yard field goal. Normally, when a team has such a lead, it would run out the clock.
Gogolak's successful kick boosted the Redskins score to 72, topping the 70 scored by Los Angeles against Baltimore on Oct. 22, 1950. It is the most points ever scored by a National Football League team during a regular-season game.

Yepa's time was 32:13. He was followed by Steven Kohlen-

Unsung Army Follows GI's For A Fee

DAU TIENG, South Viet Nam (AP) —There's an army in Viet Nam that never makes the lists of statistics, the tables of organization or the battle reports — but it's everywhere.

It's the army of camp followers — mostly children and women — that has made big business of going where the American GI's go.

A recent bonanza was at Dau Tieng, northwest of Saigon on the edge of the big Michelin rubber plantation where the U.S. 1st Infantry Division made its forward headquarters for Operation Attleboro.

From sunup to sundown, ragamuffin youngsters from nearby villages scampered among the tents and rubber trees to scrounge whatever they could. While they cadged cigarettes, C rations and old tin cans — nobody seemed to know exactly what the cans were for — their older sisters and mothers went to work.

Laundries were established behind houses and each morning the women collected the mud-caked fatigue uniforms of the GI's. Next day they were returned, clean, pressed and folded. Cost: 50 piasters a set — about 42 cents.

Soldiers on KP duty in mess halls were able to hire stand-ins from the legions that appeared at dawn. For a dollar a day, the GI's could stand by while their replacements did the kitchen dirty work.

Other squads of women toured the grounds, picking up cigarette butts, scraps of paper and odd refuse to beautify the premises.

Outdoor barbershops offering haircut, shave and facial massage were set up in the shade of the plantation.

Some entrepreneurs got into the big money luxury items such as ice, beer and soda pop.

On one particularly hot day, the cost of a 25-pound cake of ice was up to 400 piasters — better than $3.50 — by midmorning and was soaring with the temperature.

As the prices for goods and services increased, so did the

Slav Countries Suffer Disease Unknown To Us

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Twenty-five per cent of the rural population of Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria suffers from a mysterious kidney disease. Its cause is still unknown after four years of research directed by a prominent American doctor.

Despite its wide spread in these three countries, the malady is endemic — almost unknown in any other region.

It strikes the young — teenagers or even children under 10. But its origin is difficult to trace because the symptoms usually do not appear for almost 10 years. As the disease develops, the sufferers become anemic and are greatly weakened. In its advanced stages, the disease often is fatal.

The illness, called only endemic nephropathy — regional kidney disease — has existed for many years. It has become grave in the past decade.

A careful study of the malady was started four years ago at a research center set up in a hospital of the Bosnian town of Bijeljina under Dr. Philip W. Hall of the Cleveland (Ohio) Metropolitan General Hospital.

Since then Hall has spent part of his time at Bijeljina and part at a research center at the Karolinski Institute at Stockholm, Sweden.

"But after all this work," Hall said recently, "we are as much in the dark about the origin of the disease as before."

Evidence so far indicates the malady is not hereditary and that it may be connected in some way with the rivers of the region. Incidence of the disease has been found to be greater among people living in lowlands along the rivers than those in communities on higher land or farther from the streams. But tests of the water have failed to give any clue to either the origin or spread of the ailment.

Hall himself may have narrowly escaped the malady.

"For three weeks," he said, "there was a suggestion of this abnormal pattern in my proteins while I was working here."

Goods seldom seen in Dau Tieng began to show up. A supply of American whisky and European cognac apparently imported from Saigon, was being hawked by barefooturchins at 1,000 piasters a bottle — $8.75.

There was even military training for some of the hardy ones. A group of GI's preparing guard posts hired youngsters to fill sandbags and construct bunkers.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription — so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold without prescription in most states — in tiny tablets called Primatene®. These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms.

Gallup Poll Puts Romney Over Nixon

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A Gallup poll says Michigan's Gov. George Romney has passed former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the top choice for Republican presidential candidate in 1968.

The poll, taken the week after Nov. 8 elections and released Sunday, shows Romney the favorite of 39 per cent of Republicans and 34 per cent of independents.

Nixon, choice of 34 per cent of Republicans in the poll last year, was selected this month by 31 per cent of the Republicans and 22 per cent of the independents.

Since then Hall has spent part of his time at Bijeljina and part at a research center at the Karolinski Institute at Stockholm, Sweden.

Motel Clerk Slain In Third Holdup

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Elmer Rosenblum, 44, a part-time night clerk at a West St. Louis motel who was found slain Sunday by a motel guest, had been the victim of two previous robberies at the motel, police said.

Rosenblum was found slumped over the clerk's counter. He had been shot twice with a revolver, officers said. About $70 from the night's receipts was missing, police said.

Rosenblum, of St. Charles, was regularly employed by the Missouri Pacific Railroad.
